

EUROADVOCATEN GOES GLOBAL!

Euroadvocaten is delighted to announce that it has changed its name to Globaladvocaten.

The group has changed its name due to the globalisation of its client's across the network and has adapted accordingly.

All of the member firms are mid-sized independent firms who know their own legal market inside out. These firms belong to a network that prides itself on understanding their clients' needs and can offer expert legal advice in other countries as and when needed.

The group recently welcomed two new member firms from the USA. Bartko, Zankel, Bunzel & Miller, located in San Francisco, California and Shumaker, Loop & Kendrick, LLP, located in Charlotte, North Carolina.

Founded in 1990, the network has grown year and year and now includes over 370 partners, over 800 lawyers and covers 27 countries. This enables clients to tap into expert lawyers providing worldwide solutions.

Globaladvocaten is ranked within the top banding for "Leading Regional Law Firm Networks" by Chambers and Partners.

Globaladvocaten Chairman Christopher Roos commented:

"I am extremely pleased that the network is continuing to expand and the firms we are taking on are of a very high calibre. This is a very exciting time for Globaladvocaten and am certain that more and more firms will join given the benefits the network provides."
